

ABSTRACT

Disclosed are systems and methods for locating a video file. In one embodiment, a system and method pertain to identifying a key image, identifying a plurality of video files, and searching the plurality of video files for the key image using an image comparison technology.